Council Listens, Hesitates On FOP Bargaining Request

by Marat Moore

As Greenbelt prepared to celebrate its 51st Labor Day Festival and concession crews assembled rakishly colorful rides and booths, more sober labor issues came before the Greenbelt City Council. At a council worksession on August 31, Greenbelt's Lodge 32 of the Fraternal Order of Police (FOP) discussed the FOP's request for collective bargaining rights and binding arbitration for the city's police force.

The FOP had submitted a formal request to council in May for recognition of collective bargaining, and this worksession was the first public discussion of the issue, which will be further addressed at the council's regular meeting on September 12.

The police department and FOP Lodge 32 now have a "meet and confer" relationship with the city council, which means that the local FOP meets with council once a year during the budget process to discuss salaries, benefits and working conditions and to request adjustments in those conditions of employment. The Greenbelt city charter has no provision for collective bargaining for city employees and the police request, if accepted, would require a resolution revising the city charter.

Differences

The meet-and-confer process does not result in an enforceable contract and the discussion at the worksession highlighted the differences of opinion about the relative value of a union contract and the current meet-and-confer process, which councilmembers seemed satisfied with and the police decidedly less so.

"We believe that the meet-and-confer method has worked very well and we're leaning toward continuing that process," said Mayor Judith Davis. "We know there are some issues and we've always been willing to work them out. We believe the police department has done very well, so why change what works?"

"Why change? The reason is because with collective bargaining we would have a contract. At this point with this process, everything we have can be taken away and we have no power to stop it," said John Rogers, immediate past president of Greenbelt's Lodge 32 and current chair of the state FOP's collective bargaining committee.

"We feel that it's a system of checks and balances for both parties," he said. "It's not that we don't trust you but in 10 years, when you're gone and I'm gone, there may be an adversarial relationship and we need that protection."

Representing the Greenbelt police, in addition to Rogers, were

Groups, Businesses And Individuals Add To Relief Efforts

Hurricane Katrina has left many individuals and families in Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama homeless and without necessary food and shelter. Local groups, businesses and individuals have geared up to provide a wide variety of support to relief efforts for the victims.

The following reports are a few of the many ways that Greenbelters have pitched in to help.

Seven City Police Help in Louisiana

On Saturday, Sept. 3 seven Greenbelt police officers along with the department's dragoon rescue vehicle (armored personnel carrier) and evidence van were sent to Jefferson Parish in Louisiana to assist in the relief effort in the aftermath of hurricane Katrina. The rescue vehicle was carried on an 18-wheel tractor trailer provided by the Maryland Department of Transportation. The officers are expected to return home on Friday, Sept. 9. The Maryland Emergency Management Agency had requested the assistance.

Greenbelter Takes Direct Action

Rena Hull of Lakeside Drive left Monday for New Orleans. A retired pediatric nurse, she had volunteered last Thursday and received a call Sunday. She is working with a group from Maryland. The hospital they were first assigned to did not need them, so they were sent to another hospital. Hull reports the electricians there are busy restoring electricity to the building. The group will help set up clinics. Hull was Greenbelt's Outstanding Citizen in 1999.

Area Schools Aid Hurricane Victims

To assist in relief efforts, the county school system is sponsoring collection of financial donations to help victims of the disaster. All funds collected through September 30 will be combined into a single check that will be presented to the American Red Cross.

Local Accounts Of Katrina Sought

The News Review welcomes accounts from Greenbelters with direct knowledge and experiences related to Hurricane Katrina and the rescue efforts since. Accounts can be submitted in written or digital form and need to include the name and telephone number of the submitter.

2005 Outstanding Citizen Shocked to Hear His Name

by Jennifer Sciubba

As far as Jay Remenick had understood, Greenbelt's Outstanding Citizen always had a virtual resume of volunteer organizations in which he or she had made a significant contribution. As he stood in the festival crowd on Friday night, September 2, he naturally expected this year's Outstanding Citizen to fit the profile. As someone who devoted his whole life to one particular cause he never dreamed that the name called could be his. So, when Outstanding Citizen Committee Chair Robert Zugby named Remenick Greenbelt's Outstanding Citizen he was "shocked and honored but especially shocked," he told the cheerful crowd Friday night.

As Zugby told the crowd, however, the depth of Remenick's involvement in the Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Department (GVFD) an organization so vital to the public safety of the community is exactly what convinced them he was the right choice. For the past 32 years Remenick has worked his way through the ranks of the GVFD, from a junior member around age 16 to president for 10 years until 2004.

Interfaith "Healing Hands" To Mark 9/11 Anniversary

by Jaco B. ten Hove

To commemorate this year's anniversary of the attacks on September 11, 2001, a group of local therapeutic touch professionals have again offered their "healing hands" in exchange for donations to community relief funds. From 1 to 6 p.m. on Sunday, September 11 an outdoor pavilion in Greenbelt's Roosevelt Center (Southway and Crescent Road) will fly a banner suggesting that "Healing Hands Strengthen Community." Adults (over 18) are encouraged to come by that afternoon, make a donation to help support those among us in need and enjoy a comfortable, stress-reducing massage from a certified massage therapist.

The event will feature employees of nearby Pleasant Touch, owned and operated by Gwen Vaccaro, plus other certified providers and will be hosted by members of the Greenbelt Interfaith Leadership Association (GILA). Individuals from GILA administer the Good Samaritan

2005 City Council Election

Ed Putens Is First to File For Re-election to Council

Edward V.J. Putens filed this week for re-election to the Greenbelt City Council. He is the first person to file and be certified. Putens filed first in the 2003 and 2001 elections also. Four other sets of nomination forms have been taken out according to City Clerk Kathleen Gallagher by the remaining incumbents: Judith Davis, Rodney Roberts, Leta Mach and Konrad Herling.

Biography

Edward Putens is completing his twelfth term on the Greenbelt City Council. Putens has been a resident of Greenbelt for 38 years, living in Springhill Lake, Charlestowne North, Windsor Green and now in Greenbrook. He was born in Hazelton, Penna., and grew up in Baltimore.

Putens has been employed by the federal government for 33 years and has received many awards and commendations. Since 1987 he has worked for the Food and Drug Administration, for many years in high management positions. Putens previously served in a variety of senior management and staff positions for the U.S. Department of Labor, Office of Personnel Management and U.S. Postal Service.

Putens' initiative of many years for major changes in Springhill Lake, which started with a campaign ad in the News Review, was rewarded this year when the ownership agreed to reconstruct the entire complex and the city was able to secure promises of other major changes in that area including the Metroland development, Beltway Plaza and new schools to

Letters to the Editor

Rude Words Cross the Line

I am writing to express my dismay in an individual (I use individual because I will not blame the group in its entirety) marching in the Greenbelt Labor Day Parade. For years I have attended the parade, from the time I was a child until now as a mother of two. Never have I been more offended by a person than I was at this year's parade.

While enjoying the look on my children's faces as they watched the fire trucks, bands and floats, I politely said "No thank you" to all politicians and groups that were handing out literature about their organizations. I was there to enjoy the beautiful day with my husband, children, parents and in-laws, who were all sitting on the curb and did not have room to carry anything that was being given out.

Every group graciously moved on as we all said "No thank you" to their hand-outs, except for one. A member approached me and my mother-in-law protesting the war in Iraq and went to give us one of their hand-outs. Once again we said "No thank you." She then looked at us and said "Keep killing!"

I am outraged she made such a judgmental comment about me in front of my children. She did not know my views on the war in Iraq and I never comment on my views. I simply said "No thank you." I feel even more offended because she made that comment in front of my mother-in-law, whose son has just recently returned from the war in Iraq.

I thought Greenbelt was supposed to be an open-minded community, appreciating everyone's opinion. I just recently purchased a home in Greenbelt and feel this was not the welcome my family deserved.

This woman crossed the line when she implied I was a "murderer" for not taking her hand-out. I truly wish I had approached the woman afterward to get her name and ask her why she commented to me the way she had in front of my children. Hopefully the woman will read this letter and realize she insulted my family and her comment was not necessary.

She should have kept walking. After all, wasn't her point to spread peace?

Celeste May

Thanks Everyone

On behalf of the Labor Day Festival Committee, I would like to thank everyone who attended this year's Festival. We hope that everyone had a memorable time. Mother Nature outdid herself this year.

A big thanks to the community and school groups and volunteers who had booths and tables – without them there would be no Festival. We welcomed both returning groups and new ones to this year's Festival – their hard work and dedication is truly appreciated. Thanks to the crafters who were part of the first Festival-sponsored craft show. A big thanks goes to Public Works – without their support and work there would, at a very minimum, be no booths! And thanks also for their work prior to, over the weekend itself and afterward. And a big thanks to the Recreation Department for their support and participation resulting in great games and tournaments. Thanks to the Police Department for their participation and support. Tom Gaylin and Rosedale Attractions brought us top-notch rides and game booths – a better carnival company cannot be found. The entertainers both local and world-known brought us talent and professionalism which made for great shows. And thanks to the Arts Center for super Shakespeare, GATE for a great film and the Recreation Department for a very Artful Afternoon. Thanks to Eleanor Roosevelt High School National Honor Society for their invaluable assistance in this year's Festival. The parade participants deserve thanks for strutting, playing or driving "their stuff." It was a great parade!

A big thanks to all the businesses and individuals who provided monetary support – that includes people who bought raffle tickets, bake sale items, pizza kits and yard sale items. Thanks also to those who attended the Basket Bingos throughout the past year (there will be another one on September 23 at the Greenbelt American Legion). A very special thanks to the Greenbelt Co-op for allowing Festival fundraising efforts to go on all summer on its ramp, for its raffle prize and for being the vendor for the wristband vouchers. Thanks also goes to the Greenbelt Marriott for providing rooms for the "out of town" entertainers. The success of the Festival is heavily dependent on year-round support, both monetary and otherwise.

And lastly, I would like to thank the wonderful members of the Committee, whose hard work and dedication is beyond measure. From the bottom of my heart, thank you, thank you, thank you.

See you next year.

Pet Show – A Winner

This year's pet show was a huge success. It was run by local girl scout troops. There was a wide variety of animals from a sea monkey to birds to dogs. There were a total of 18 pets – 11 dogs, one cat, three exotic pets and three small mammals. Terri, a rabbit, won best in show. We would be happy to do it again.

New Kickball Helps Kick Off Great Labor Day Festival

by Eli Flam

Kickball, anyone? Adult kickball, that is? This purported new "craze" – see below – slipped into Greenbelt this summer and helped kick off the Labor Day Festival Friday night, September 2. What's more, a second part of the debut season runs through October and maybe into November.

In June Greenbelt Recreation Department's sports coordinator Greg Varda set up a first-ever Adult Co-ed Kickball League. Seven teams, each with about 15 players from 18 to 60 – at least four of them had to be women – played Thursday nights at Braden Field #2 or Northway. After a dozen games, teams like Ball Blasters, Liver Damage and Vote for Pedro were bested for the first annual Commissioner's Cup by Remedial Jim (the name tracks to phys. ed. teachers).

"Jim" – all over 35 – took to Braden Field #2 for softball at the Labor Day Festival against a mix of under-35 league opponents, who also recruited a splay of youngsters. As in senior softball, kickball calls for 11 fielders; they get outs a la baseball or by throwing and hitting a kicker on the base paths. Miss him/her and the kicker can keep running. It all starts with a pitcher rolling the outsized red ball toward home plate, where a kicker gives it a good galumph with either foot. You get three strikes (fouled tries, mostly), no balls and in seven innings scores that rarely go into double figures. Try kicking that big ball much beyond the infield. An umpire is on board.

At the Festival the younger-uns scored twice against Remedial Jim with two infield bouncers, a pair of singles to left field and some swift base running. By the fourth inning, with several doubles and triples, hi-jinks on the bases and a sprinkling of errors – plus a handful of runners plunked by a thrown ball (often hurled with both hands) – the score was mounting. The underlying mood was genial but most plays primed fielder/kicker intensity as well as laughs. A few dozen fans and family members went readily with the flow of the game. By Saturday, Jim's playing coach Cindy Donn had to think hard for the final score: 6-5, favor Jim.

While Greenbelt is handling the new kickball league on its own, there is a gung-ho World Adult Kickball Association (WAKA). On its website WAKA takes credit for starting "the adult kickball craze" seven years ago. Now, they say, there are tens of thousands of players across the U.S. and the world, with divisions in D.C., Bethesda and Alexandria. If interested in taking part locally, call Greg Varda at the Greenbelt Recreation Department – and put your best foot forward.

Prescription Benefit Is the "Expert" Topic

On September 20 the "Ask the Expert" cable program will be "Understanding the New Medicare Prescription Drug Benefit: Important Choices For You to Consider." The program will be held at Green Ridge House from 11 a.m. to noon. It will be conducted by Kelley Coates-Carter, associate state director of Communications, AARP Maryland.

Green Ridge House residents are asked to RSVP to Laverne Stewart Logan at 301-412-2480. Others attending should call 301-345-6660.

Nazi-driven "Shylock" Plays at Arts Center

"Shylock, The Jew of Venice" – a challenging new version of Shakespeare's "The Merchant of Venice" – is playing at Greenbelt Arts Center (GAC) September 9, 10, 14, 15, 16 and 17 at 8 p.m. and on Sunday, September 11 at 2 p.m. GAC is hosting CU Later Productions, formed by three recent graduates from Catholic University in Washington, D.C.

In a Nazi concentration camp in 1944, two prisoners – renowned actors in pre-war Yiddish theater – are forced to present Shakespeare's play to entertain the guards. How the actors deal with the situation drives the production with a fierce impetus.

Laley Lippard directs John R. Johnson and Sammy Wegent in the actors' roles. All three have worked in theaters across the U.S. The production is designed by Thomas F. Donahue, theater department chairman at Catholic University.

"Constant Gardener" Digs in at Movie Theater

Opening at Old Greenbelt Theatre on Friday, September 9 "The Constant Gardener" delves sharply into the dangerous testing of a new drug on an unaware African populace. A newly married British diplomat (Ralph Fiennes) and his edgy wife (Rachel Weisz) arrive in Nairobi to get deeply tangled in this John LeCarré story, directed in vivid colors with an unremitting point-of-view by Fernando Meirelles ("City of God"). As consciences are scraped raw, the toll on the marriage and the pharmaceutical fallout ultimately lead to a demanding question: Is redemption possible?

Whether or not you agree that the film goes over the top here and there, it is a challenging, absorbing experience that is worth taking on. 129 minutes, rated R for nudity, language and extremely violent scenes.

GIVES Announces Autumn Activities

by Virginia Beauchamp

Although GIVES' working space is currently precarious as the windows in the Community Center's Senior Lounge are undergoing replacement, the organization is still very much in business. GIVES, an acronym for Greenbelt Inter-generational Exchange Service, operates primarily through telephone messages. Until this renovation began, GIVES members staffed the telephone each weekday between 10 a.m. and noon.

At all times members can call the GIVES number, 301-507-6580, to leave a message requesting a service, such as transportation for a medical appointment or help with leaf raking. Although the 10 to noon staffing is temporarily interrupted, messages continue to be monitored on a regular basis and requests for assistance are filled in a timely fashion.

During the next month GIVES will have a full agenda, according to Chair Marsha Voigt. This Saturday, September 10 the group will hold its regular monthly meeting at 10 a.m. in the Community Center. As usual the meeting is open to all interested persons.

On Sunday, September 11 GIVES will participate with the Greenbelt Interfaith Leadership Association in commemorating the victims of the 9/11 disaster. This program will be held in Roosevelt Center from 1 to 6 p.m.

On October 2 GIVES, like many other Greenbelt organizations, will have an information table commemorating the 10th anniversary of the opening of the Community Center. This event will take place from 1 to 5 p.m.

And on October 13 GIVES will participate with the annual Greenbelt Health Fair taking place between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. in the Community Center.

Arboretum Provides Free Unusual Trees

The U.S. National Arboretum will supply free trees to the City of Greenbelt for fall and spring planting. These trees are unusual varieties, filling in the balance of what is needed in the city, according to Public Works' Assistant Director Bill Phelan.

Since the city will be getting these trees, Greenbelt will not participate in the county's Livable Communities Initiative which also provides trees, said City Manager Michael McLaughlin.

Giving in charity is one of the important teachings of Islam, greatly rewarded by God and an obligation on every individual who has the means to do so.

"And the likeness of those, who spend their substance, seeking to please God and to strengthen their souls, is as a garden, high and fertile; heavy rain falls on it, but makes it yield a double increase in harvest, and if it receives not heavy rain, light moisture sufficeth it. God seeth well whatever ye do . . . O ye who believe, give of the good things which ye have earned, and of the fruits of the earth which we have produced for you . . ."

CITY ELECTION INFORMATION

NO MORE EXCUSES! ANY QUALIFIED VOTER MAY VOTE ABSENTEE

Beginning this year, any qualified voter of the City of Greenbelt may choose to vote by absentee ballot in municipal elections. There is no longer any need to present an excuse for why you will be unable to appear at your polling place to vote on Election Day. The purpose of the change is to give an additional option to voters and make it easier to vote in municipal elections. If you prefer to come to your polling place on Election Day, meet up with your neighbors, talk with the candidates, and use a voting machine, you may still do so, just as before. But if you prefer to vote early, or if you like the idea of voting by mail or filling out a paper ballot, you now have more choices. Just be sure to vote. No more excuses! First, request a ballot in one of two ways. Separate, signed application forms or letters must be submitted by each individual requesting a ballot:

- Fill out an application form that you may pick up in the City Clerk’s office, request from the City Clerk by phone at 301-474-8000 or e-mail at kgallagher@greenbeltmd.gov, or print from the City’s Web site at www.greenbeltmd.gov; or
- Write a letter of application to the City Clerk, 25 Crescent Road, including your full name, domicile address in Greenbelt, signature, and telephone number.

Military servicemembers, their families, and other U.S. citizens abroad who are covered under the Uniformed and Overseas Citizens Absentee Voting Act may also use the Federal Post Card Application (<http://www.fvap.gov>) to request an absentee ballot for City election. Applications to receive absentee ballots will be accepted from Wednesday, October 19, until noon on Monday, November 7, 2005. The completed ballot must be received by the City Clerk no later than 6 p.m. the day of the regular election, November 8, 2005. No absentee ballots will be distributed prior to October 19.

Return your executed absentee ballot by sending it through the U.S. mail in time to arrive by November 8, hand-delivering it to the City Clerk’s office, or placing it in the locked drop-box at the east door of the Municipal Building at 25 Crescent Road. Questions? Call the City Clerk at 301-474-8000.

ELECTION CLERKS NEEDED

The City of Greenbelt Board of Elections is seeking several residents who would be willing to serve as election officials on November 8, 2005, from 6 a.m. until about 9 p.m. Clerks must also attend a training session on November 7 from 7:30 p.m. until about 9 p.m.

This is a rewarding experience for anyone who is interested in the political process and would like to play an active role in the local election. There is a stipend of $135, plus a training fee of $25.

There may also be a need for additional clerks to assist in the counting of absentee ballots. This job would entail working for two or three hours in the late afternoon/early evening of November 8. No preliminary training is necessary. The pay for absentee ballot clerks is $35.

To apply, please visit the City offices to submit an application, or call or e-mail Kathleen Gallagher, City Clerk, at 301-474-8000 or kgallagher@greenbeltmd.gov to request a form. You may also print out the form from the City Website at www.greenbeltmd.gov.

Charting His Course

When Remenick was growing up, the last thing his mother Rose thought her son would be interested in was firefighting. Instead, she enrolled him in piano lessons, sent him to art classes, pushed him to join the poetry club, the diving club, the archery club and even encouraged him to play tennis. “I think the only thing he didn’t do was golf,” she said laughing.

Just before his 16th birthday, however, Remenick’s friend Joe Aulisio joined the fire department, loved it and encouraged him to join as well. During junior high Remenick had begun to run with a rougher crowd than his family would have liked and his grades were sub par. But, in order to become a junior member of the GVFD – and stay one – he had to maintain a B average. He accomplished much more than that, doing his homework regularly and even making the honor roll. “The fire department was the best thing that ever happened to me. It changed my life course and made me a responsible citizen,” Remenick said in his acceptance speech.

His mother Rose said that in the face of parental criticism, Remenick just wanted to prove that he knew what he was doing. At the time she and his father questioned why he would want to put so much time into something and not get paid. “I was afraid other classmates of his would go and a get a job,” she said, leaving little opportunity for her son. She thought he was just too young to understand the value of paid work.

Because Remenick’s mother was reluctant to accept her son’s chosen path and constantly worried about the dangers of firefighting, whenever he won awards, including Fireman of the Year, he always brought them straight to her and hung them on her walls. Even 32 years later Remenick laughs, “I’m still bringing them to her.”

Despite his parents’ reservations about firefighting, Remenick says that he was a risk-taker and wasn’t afraid to chart his own course. What attracted him to the firehouse may have been a need for rebellion and risk but what kept him there was the camaraderie, the idea of helping people and the diversity of training he could receive, especially as a paramedic.

Long Tradition

Remenick’s parents should not have been surprised at his desire to serve and shape the community; they were both very involved in Greenbelt, serving in such areas as GHI’s Architecture and Environment Committee and the Golden Age Club Membership Committee, the latter of which Rose Remenick now chairs. Nancy Remenick, Jay’s wife, also recognizes the importance of service. Both her parents were charter members; her father of the fire department and her mother of the ladies auxiliary, an organization she is now president of herself. It seems as if a connection to the fire department is something neither Nancy nor Jay can escape – they met and fell in love there 28 years ago.

In his tenure with the department Remenick has shepherded renovations of the firehouse, raised funds and overseen the renovation of an original antique Greenbelt fire truck. But what he is most proud of, he says, is gaining and maintaining greater acceptance of the fire department within the community. The whoops and hollers that erupted on Friday night as he was called to the stage certainly made it evident that he and his efforts with the fire department are not only well-respected but treasured by the Greenbelt community.

Cost

Councilmembers raised concerns about cost and the intervention of a third-party arbitrator in labor negotiations. “It would take the budget process out of our hands and out of our citizens’ hands and give it to a third party and the cost could be high,” said Davis.

Councilmember Rodney Roberts also expressed cost concerns. “How much will it cost us for a bargaining team and attorneys for every contract? It seems to me that money would be better used for salaries and benefits.”

“The bottom line is that we are here because the FOP leadership believes that it’s time to take this relationship to a different level,” said McAndrew. “As it is, council sees FOP once a year at budget time. Collective bargaining means a lot more than just numbers. It means that the chief can’t give them four hours’ notice about shift changes, that’s not in existence now. The grievance process is so cumbersome that it’s ineffective.

“This is about police officers who believe that the meet and confer process has reached its maximum usage. They’re asking for input and a role in the day-to-day decisions that affect them that they don’t have today.

“I’m actually shocked at the tightness on the council on this issue, to how resistant the council is to this idea. Collective bargaining can be a productive, healthy process. As the city continues to grow more complex, citizens benefit. The council needs to open up to this idea.”

“We’re listening. We’re willing to think about a wide range of options – but one option that’s not on the table is binding arbitration,” Davis said.

Roberts asked the FOP representatives for information on municipalities comparable to Greenbelt that have collective bargaining with binding arbitration resulting in better pay, benefits and working conditions.

Gibbs noted that Greenbelt’s starting salary is $32,000, compared with county police salaries of $42,000 or higher.

Putens said, “We’re very aware of salaries in Montgomery County and Prince George’s County. People leave Greenbelt but they come back because we have excellent working conditions and train our officers and have a good benefit package.”

Progressive City

“The benefits derived from collective bargaining have largely applied here in Greenbelt,” noted Councilmember Konrad Herling. “This is a progressive city with a progressive history. I think that most of us here are confident that the positive record we have here will be continued.”

Councilmember Leta Mach concurred. “I still have very serious concerns about changing a process that has worked. I believe that future councils will listen and respond to issues as they come up.”

Herling asked the police, “Is it your contention that while there is an employee process, that employees are more reluctant to relay those concerns without a collective bargaining contract as a protective umbrella?”

“Yes, there’s no specific vehicle to bring an issue to the council. Meet and confer is a cumbersome process. It’s a piecemeal approach,” McAndrew said.

Roberts asked if the FOP would consider collective bargaining without binding arbitration.

“Arbitration sours the whole thing,” he said. “People in Greenbelt don’t support someone from outside controlling what’s going on.”

“Without arbitration, we can negotiate all day all night and not come to agreement and what happens then?” Rogers responded.

Basic Right

One local resident, Elizabeth Gaines, spoke in support of the FOP’s request. “Collective bargaining is a basic human right,” she said. “I am amazed that my city council is unanimous in not supporting it. These folks have a right to bargain collectively and not have to rely on goodwill. They need a contract.” Police officers in the audience applauded.

Rogers proposed that council place the issue on a ballot. “Let the citizens decide,” he said.

“Our opinion is that if you put it on the ballot, you can explain to the citizens about your concerns about taxes. The flip side is that we’re going to say it’s a good thing. The citizens decide if they want to grant us the right to collective bargaining.”

McAndrew pressed the council to state its position more clearly but the council demurred.

replace Springhill Lake Elementary School and Greenbelt Middle School.

Putens has taken a leading role to improve police protection and crime prevention. The council supported his initiative to use video cameras in strategic areas in the city (currently now in use at Roosevelt Center) and to place two school resource officers in Greenbelt schools for security. He proposed the city’s new Public Safety Advisory Committee as well as the Advisory Committee on Education. Putens also successfully initiated the Four Cities Coalition among Greenbelt, College Park, New Carrollton and Berwyn Heights to expand inter-city cooperation on issues and projects of common concern.

Putens has taken a leading role on senior citizen concerns and initiated establishment of the Senior Task Force, which led to establishment of the permanent Senior Citizen Advisory Committee. He has been active in efforts to control development and address the traffic concerns arising from proposed developments. He was the leader in the eventually successful effort to have a traffic light installed at Greenbelt and Mandan Roads and a guardrail installed at Eleanor Roosevelt High School.

Until 1993 Putens was the only councilmember living in Greenbelt East and he has worked actively with the Greenbelt East Advisory Committee of which he was a co-founder. He was an original member of the Windsor Green Board of Directors and served on the board for eight years. He currently serves as board president of the Greenbrook Estates Homeowners Association.

Prior to his council service, Putens was chairman of the Community Relations Advisory Board, which developed the proposal to establish a city-wide crime prevention program and led eventually to the current Public Safety Advisory Committee. He has been active at different times in a variety of community organizations including Greenbelt Consumer Co-op, Friends of the Greenbelt Museum, Greenbelt Arts Center and the Eleanor and Franklin Roosevelt Democratic Club. He was an active participant in the Greenbelt Boys and Girls Club programs when his children were younger.

While on the city council, Putens has served on numerous county, state and national committees to represent Greenbelt’s interests. He is currently the first vice chair of the Small Cities Committee of the National League of Cities (NLC) and has also served on other NLC committees. He is also a member of the regional Washington Metropolitan Council of Governments (COG), Prince George’s County Municipal Association and the Maryland Municipal League. He currently serves on the COG Human Resources and Public Safety Policy Committee, which he previously chaired, and was a member of COG’s Transportation Planning Board.

Putens is a graduate of the University of Maryland where he earned his degree in microbiology and was a member of the University’s lacrosse team. While attending college he was employed in various research capacities for medical and research development companies and co-authored several patents dealing with minimizing air pollutants.

Robberies

August 25, 9:52 p.m., 6900 block Hanover Parkway, a woman reported that she was walking down the sidewalk when she was approached from behind by a man who grabbed the purse from her shoulder and fled on foot. Fire & Rescue Log

The Fire Department Log is a monthly report of the activities and news from the Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Department and Rescue Squad, Inc. (GVFD&RS) The report includes recent incidents, news and upcoming events, fire safety and other fire department related information.

Incident Report

For the month of August, the Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Department responded to a total of 120 engine and 140 ambulance calls. Among those calls 49 were reports of smoke or fire, three were gas leaks, there were 42 motor vehicle accidents and 120 medical calls.

Outstanding Citizen

The GVFD and Ladies Auxiliary would like to congratulate Life Member and current Vice President Jay Remenick on being named the 2005 Greenbelt Outstanding Citizen. Remenick has been a member of the GVFD for over 30 years and has worked as a firefighter, officer and president. "We are very proud of all that Jay has accomplished over the years," said Chris Fleshman, president.

Hanover Pky. Fire

On August 5 just after 4:30 p.m., Greenbelt was alerted to respond along with other area units to the 7100 block of Hanover Parkway for an apartment fire with report of occupants. Engine 352 with four firefighters responded and, upon arrival, first supplied West Lanham Hills with water to their engine before taking a hose line inside and assisting with extinguishing the fire. The fire was contained to the bedroom and was quickly brought under control. No one was found in the apartment and no injuries were reported.

Vehicle Accident

Around 2:30 p.m. on August 28, Engine 351 and Ambulance 359 along with other area units responded to a reported vehicle accident in the southbound lanes of the Baltimore/Washington Parkway south of 495. Upon arrival, it was discovered that a single vehicle had crashed head-on into a tree at high speed leaving the only occupant trapped and in respiratory arrest. The rescue squad from Berwyn Heights extricated the patient in under 15 minutes. During extrication, the crew from Greenbelt assisted with patient stabilization. The patient was transported to an area trauma center by Ambulance 359 with county medics on board.

Fund and the Emergency Assistance Fund, which will receive all proceeds. Both funds are maintained only by donations and are running very low right now, limiting their ability to provide temporary relief where needed.

Many participants at last year's inaugural event expressed appreciation that a potentially depressing day was being marked with positive action, so organizers agreed to join hands for a second time, hoping to exceed the previous amount raised, which was just over $1,400.

GILA tries each year to creatively commemorate this hard anniversary, hoping it will become an annual Day of Service to strengthen bonds of community at all levels. The idea of honoring this date by offering healing touch for charity came in 2003, as Vaccaro heard her minister, the Rev. Dan Hamlin, pastor of Greenbelt Community Church and longtime GILA member, speak from the pulpit on the subject.

That Sunday morning experience deepened Vaccaro's active commitment to providing ways her business can give back to the community. "We touch people's lives – literally – every day, hoping to bring them to greater wholeness," said Vaccaro. "We'd like to contribute more toward the needs of people in our town."

She also wanted to help raise the visibility of local spiritual resources, so the idea of a joint 9/11 anniversary project with

Rotary to the Rescue

Springhill Lake Elementary School students (from left) Noel, Zion and Bethel Babayemi hold backpacks provided by the Greenbelt Rotary Club. The Rotary has provided a number of school supplies in an effort to ensure that all students are well equipped for the new school year.

GILA was born. She approached Hamlin, who carried the inspired suggestion to his interfaith colleagues during one of their monthly meetings.

"September 11, 2001, was a terrible day," Hamlin said. "But the brightness in it was the service of so many people – police, firefighters, passengers on the flight that went down in Pennsylvania and countless ordinary citizens who did whatever they could to help. It is fitting to remember the best of that tragic day with community service."

Last year's Healing Hands Strengthen Community event "went exquisitely," commented Vaccaro, who has also offered use of her Pleasant Touch facilities right on the Roosevelt Center plaza, especially in case of bad weather. Her plans for this second round again are for various options of massage styles, now including Reiki, a light-touch channeling of energy to heal and harmonize.

The GIVES organization (Greenbelt Intergenerational Volunteer Exchange Service) will join the event this year, to offer their "helping hands" as a community-wide coalition of neighbors helping neighbors with household tasks.

Since 1975, the Greenbelt Interfaith Leadership Association (formerly the Greenbelt Clergy Group) has celebrated religious diversity by expanding awareness of how the holy is honored in different faiths and by exploring ways to share the struggles and joys experienced by religious leaders. Such cooperation, they believe, can build community and point the way toward greater peace. The group represents local Baha'i, Christian, Jewish and Unitarian Universalist congregations.

Plenty of Action, Color as Parade Marchers Pass along Crescent Rd.

by Matt Johnson

Greenbelt's 51st annual Labor Day parade traversed Crescent Road without a hitch, beginning near Kenilworth Avenue and ending on Westway, attracting plenty of viewers along the way.

The spectacle began around 10 a.m. and lasted till noon. Leading the parade, as always, was Greenbelt's newest Outstanding Citizen Jay Remenick and a bevy of beauties – past and present Misses Greenbelt. Various members of Greenbelt Boys and Girls Club athletic teams marched in the front, all wearing green T-shirts, making them hardly discernible on an individual basis. Cheerleaders, clad in green, stood at the very front, trailed by football and soccer players large and small.

The most colorful display

read "Greenbelt Pride: Gay, Bisexual, Lesbian, Transgender." It was attached to a vehicle with a rainbow of balloons: red, orange, white, green, blue and purple. Men and women in pink shirts passed out rainbow flags displaying information on their Greenbelt Pride Yahoo group.

A few feet away, a man on stilts was prancing to the spectators' delight.

The Greenbelt S.I.T.Y. Stars boasted their jump roping skills in mid-march. The team recently won the National Double Dutch Speed Champion title.

One car had a sign that read "Wild and Wacky Women." The women inside the car wore red brimmed hats. They were there to represent one of four Red Hat Society groups in Greenbelt, a popular group for women.

Other groups represented in the parade included the Greenbelt Recycling and Advisory Committee, the St. Hugh's Council, the Mishkan Torah Congregation and the Knights of Columbus.

Marching near the tail, ahead of a diverse display of fire engines from departments all over Maryland, was the Prince George's County Peace and Justice Coalition. Men and women carried signs with slogans such as "Bush lies, who dies?" and "War is not the answer." A vehicle covered in yellow ribbons had a picture on the front of a soldier holding an injured Iraqi child.

Harvey Geller of Woodland Hills said the parade was a little different than in years past because there were not as many political endorsements. He attributed this to a lack of political candidates running for office – no county, state or national elections this November.

Geller has been an onlooker of the Labor Day parade for 49 years. The World War II veteran raised his thumb in approval as the Peace and Justice Coalition passed by.

"Well, this is Greenbelt," he said, explaining the parade's diversity of exhibition.

Several Girl Scout troops as well as Boy Scout Troop 202 enjoyed marching in the parade.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, Greenbelt is very fortunate to have an excellent Volunteer Fire Department & Rescue Squad; and

WHEREAS, Jay Remenick—a Greenbelter born and bred—has rendered extraordinary service to the citizens of Greenbelt through his more than thirty years as a volunteer with the Department; and

WHEREAS, Jay started as a driver on all the Department's fire apparatus, has undertaken a wide range of training, and has held every operational position up to and including Deputy Chief; and

WHEREAS, in 1995, he assumed the responsibilities of an administrative officer and became President, in which position for ten years he strengthened the Department's financial footing; spearheaded many in-house projects, such as the renovation of the Control Room and Bunk Room and the restoration of the 1935 Ford pumper; tackled the threat of reduced County support for the Squad, and has been the Department's strong voice at numerous City Council meetings; and

WHEREAS, almost immediately upon joining the Department, Jay was named Fireman of the Year in 1974—an early recognition of his exceptional and natural abilities for this work; and

WHEREAS, thirty years later, in 2004, the Department named Jay as Fire Officer of the Year at the 16th Annual Public Safety Awards Banquet held by Greenbelt American Legion Post #136; and

WHEREAS, not the least of Jay's contributions has been his successful effort in building a high level of rapport and camaraderie among the members of the Squad and their families.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Judith F. Davis, by the authority vested in me by the citizens and City Council of Greenbelt, Maryland, hereby issue this proclamation in your honor, to recognize you as exemplifying those qualities that traditionally have made Greenbelt a special place in which to live and, as such, truly deserving of this commendation.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Seal of the City of Greenbelt, Maryland, to be affixed this 2nd day of September 2005.

Representing the Greenbelt Museum were Mary Lindstrom, her daughter Libby (driving) and her grandchildren.
